Climate Change Policy and Global Trade Christoph Böhringer,Andreas Löschel.2012-12-06 This book synthesises several studies on the potential global impacts of two fundamental international policy initiatives: (i) multilateral agreements on climate protection strategies and (ii) trade agreements towards global trade liberalisation. Although these initiatives are not directly linked, they interrelate in subtle, yet important ways. Based on theoretical analyses and numerical simulations, the book provides guidelines on efficient strategies for climate change mitigation, implementing the framework of the Kyoto Protocol and the provided flexibility instruments, hereby accounting for interrelationships with existing and possible trade agreements on various levels. The analyses incorporate important real-world features, such as imperfect market structures, trade liberalisation settings, risk or transaction costs, that may substantially influence the magnitude and even the sign of policy impacts.

Statistical Handbook on the World's Children Chandrika Kaul.2001-12-30 At the beginning of the 21st century, there is a growing global consciousness of the issues affecting children and a commitment to address them. The Statistical Handbook on the World's Children responds to the significant need for a comprehensive collection of international statistical material on children that can be quickly accessed and easily understood by the general researcher. Organized into eight sections covering such general subject areas as demography, education, health and nutrition, disease, economics, social life, and crime, the Handbook offers data on some of the most important aspects of these broad-ranging topics. Each section begins with a general introduction and explanation of indicators to help the user make sense of the data, which is drawn from a wide range of recognized sources including: the United Nations, the World Health Organization, the International Criminal Police Organization, the U.S. Census Bureau, the World Bank, as well as regional and government reports, studies from nongovernmental organizations, and private research papers. Care has been taken to capture the latest available data for all indicators and Web citations, where available, are included in the source notes. More than just another statistical reference, the Handbook concludes with an appendix containing the text of several of the most important international documents related to children as well as a glossary of useful terms, and a list of key organizations devoted to children.

L'Éducation nationale, une machine à broyer Isabelle Dignocourt.2018-05-23 Professeur de lettres classiques à Roubaix et Tourcoing pendant plus de vingt ans, Isabelle Dignocourt incarne la crise de l'Éducation nationale. Fille d'ouvriers, Isabelle a choisi d'enseigner le français et les langues anciennes par passion et parce qu'elle voulait partager son amour des mots et de la culture antique avec des élèves pour la plupart issus de milieux modestes. Cette envie de transmettre ne l'a pas quittée, mais sa colère contre la machine administrative qu'est l'Éducation nationale n'a cessé de croître au rythme de la valse des ministres. Treize en vingt-cinq ans ! De réformes en rapports, et de rapports en réformes, concoctés par les technocrates de la rue de Grenelle adeptes de la novlangue, l'auteur constate (hélas, elle est loin d'être la seule) que l'école va de plus en plus mal. L'Éducation nationale est une machine aveugle et inhumaine qui broie les professeurs et leur ôte toute liberté. Face à ce désastre, Isabelle appelle à la résistance : laissons les professeurs faire leur travail, afin que l'école redevienne un lieu de transmission de tous les savoirs ! Isabelle Dignocourt enseigne, depuis la rentrée 2014, dans un collège à Aire-sur-la-Lys (Pas-de-Calais).

Latin American Women and Research Contributions to the IT Field Negrón, Adriana Peña

Pérez,Muñoz, Mirna.2020-12-18 Although the effort to involve women in engineering has risen in recent years with the creation of new initiatives and the promotion of inclusion in technical disciplines, the active participation of women in engineering professions is continuously lower than expected. While the need for engineers appears to be constantly increasing, women still do not fill most of this role and have a long way to go to even reach an equal split in the field. This gender gap has a significant impact how women in the STEM fields are perceived as well as their experiences in their education and careers. When it comes to Latin American women in IT, their contribution to science can go unnoticed, their participation levels in these fields are very low, and they often occupy lower-level positions than their male counterparts. These issues need to be discussed, and the experiences of women who work in the field must be shared. Latin American Women and Research Contributions to the IT Field highlights the important role of Latin American women in IT by collecting and disseminating their frontier-research contributions in order to provide more visibility and inspire greater participation of Latin American women within the major field of computer science. With chapters contributed by female authors from eight Latin American and Caribbean countries, the book provides a deep analysis of these women's trajectory paths to high quality theoretical and applied relevant research in computer science and IT. While highlighting areas such as inclusivity and STEM education, along with advancements and achievements in topics that include nonverbal interaction in virtual reality, fuzzy logic applications in education, and ant colony optimization, this book is ideal for professionals, academics, students, and researchers working in the fields of information technologies and computer science as well as those interested in gender and women's studies.

Cities in a Globalizing World Un-Habitat.2012-06-25 'The world has entered the urban millennium. Nearly half the world's people are now city dwellers, and the rapid increase in urban population is expected to continue, mainly in developing countries. This historic transition is being further propelled by the powerful forces of globalization. The central challenge for the international community is clear: to make both urbanization and globalization work for all people, instead of leaving billions behind or on the margins. Cities in a Globalizing World: Global Report on Human Settlements is a comprehensive review of conditions in the world's cities and the prospects for making them better, safer places to live in an age of globalization. I hope that it will provide all stakeholders - foremost among them the urban poor themselves - with reliable and timely information with which to set our policies right and get the machinery of urban life moving in a constructive direction.' From the Foreword by Kofi Annan, Secretary-General, United Nations. Cities in a Globalizing World presents a comprehensive review of the world's cities and analyses the positive and negative impacts on human settlements of the global trends towards social and economic integration and the rapid changes in information and communication technologies. In this Global Report, the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (Habitat) draws on specially commissioned and contributed background papers from more than 80 leading international specialists. The report focuses on recent trends in human settlements and their implications for poverty, inequity and social polarization. It develops advance knowledge for urban planning and management policies in support and promotion of inclusive cities and good urban governance. This major and influential report is the most authoritative and up-to-date assessment of human settlements conditions and trends. Written in clear, non-technical language and supported by informative graphics, case studies and extensive statistical data, it should be an essential tool and reference for academics, researchers, planners, public authorities and civil society organizations around the world.

Globalization and Global Health: Critical Issues and Policy, 3e Carolyn Stephens, Benjamin Hawkins, Marco Liverani.2022-03-15 “I can easily see this book being the ‘go-to’ text for students of global health. It provides a comprehensive overview of globalisation’s impact on health and wellbeing.” Professor David McCoy, United Nations University - International Institute for Global Health, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. “This book, which is based on rich and diverse empirical case-studies, highlights the importance of understanding global health as a multi-disciplinary field.” Haim Yacobi, Professor of Development Planning, Bartlett Development Planning Unit, University College London, UK “This book is relevant for everyone that would like to have an overview of current issues of global health in the context of the globalization era.” Ari Probandari, Professor of Public Health at Universitas Sebelas Maret, Indonesia Global health challenges are evolving profoundly. Today public health practitioners must recognize the importance of global changes for human health and health policy at all levels. Fully revised and restructured, this ground-breaking title returns in its third edition to offer students and practitioners an accessible and contemporary exploration of globalization and global health. The book includes critical reflection on global changes, with practical learning activities which help you explore the central debates. Chapters cover key issues, and emerging trends in global policy, such as:

- Social change in the 21st century, including social media and technology
- The emergence of global health governance and its colonial heritage
- Trade and its implications on health, policy, and disease
- Global environmental change including climate, biodiversity, and global policy responses
- Infectious disease including pandemic trends and global policy responses
- Non-communicable diseases and the risks of alcohol, food, and tobacco
- Governance and the state, including non-governmental actors

The third edition of Globalization and Global Health is an ideal resource for students of public health and health policy, public health practitioners and policy makers. Contributors: Carolyn Stephens, Benjamin Hawkins, Marco Liverani, Don Brown, Chris Holden, Aloisa Katsande, Neil Spicer, Preslava Stoeva

Deconstructing Special Education and Constructing Inclusion 3e Gary Thomas, Andrew Loxley. 2022-01-18

Previous editions of the bestselling Deconstructing Special Education set a landmark for the understanding of inclusion. This completely re-written third edition continues in the tradition of critical analysis set by the first two editions and assesses how ideas and practice surrounding inclusion adapt to modern pressures and expectations. The new edition addresses:

- The influence of intersectionality on the ways we think about special education and inclusion

•Contemporary understandings of 'mental health' and how these affect the way that we think about behaviour at school •Changing understandings of 'disability' •The impact of research on the development of inclusion •Marketisation and its corrosive influence on inclusion •The impact of social media on children and young people •How spending on special needs impacts the development of inclusion The authors address these complex issues in an open and accessible way, making the book essential reading for a broad audience including students, teachers, educational psychologists, policymakers and researchers. "Essential reading for anyone studying or working in either special or inclusive education... Few could build the case as well as Thomas and Loxley." Melanie Nind, Professor of Education, University of Southampton, UK "Few books in the field of education merit the soubriquet 'must read'. This is one such. Philip Garner, Professor, Brunel University, UK "An absolute must-read for all of us committed to realising genuine inclusion within schools and society!" Jan Valle, The City College of New York, USA Finishing your first reading of their book makes you realise that you must return to it, such is the richness of the analysis and reach of its detail. This is a tour de force, a line in the sand for all successive work in the field of inclusive education. Roger Slee, Diamond Jubilee Professor of Disability Studies, University of Leeds, UK Professor Gary Thomas is Emeritus Professor of Inclusion and Diversity at the School of Education, University of Birmingham, UK. Dr Andrew Loxley is an Associate Professor at the School of Education, Trinity College Dublin, Ireland.
