It's disappointing that there's no convenient menu that lets you just browse freebies. Instead, you have to search for your preferred genre, plus the word 'free' (free science fiction, or free history, for example). It works well enough once you know about it, but it's not immediately obvious. You can literally eat, drink and sleep with eBooks if you visit the Project Gutenberg website. This site features a massive library hosting over 50,000 free eBooks in ePu, HTML, Kindle and other simple text formats. What's interesting is that this site is built to facilitate creation and sharing of e-books online for free, so there is no registration required and no fees. AvaxHome is a pretty simple site that provides access to tons of free eBooks online under different categories. It is believed to be one of the major non-torrent file sharing sites that features an eBooks&eLearning section among many other categories. It features a massive database of free eBooks collated from across the world. Since there are thousands of pages, you need to be very well versed with the site to get the exact content you are looking for. $domain Public Library provides a variety of services available both in the Library and online. ... There are also book-related puzzles and games to play. You can search for a specific title or browse by genre (books in the same genre are gathered together in bookshelves). It's a shame that fiction and non-fiction aren't separated, and you have to open a bookshelf before you can sort books by country, but those are fairly minor quibbles. Another site that isn't strictly for free books, Slideshare does offer a large amount of free content for you to read. It is an online forum where anyone can upload a digital presentation on any subject. Millions of people utilize SlideShare for research, sharing ideas, and learning about new technologies. SlideShare supports documents and PDF files, and all these are available for free download (after free registration). Services are book distributors in the UK and worldwide and we are one of the most experienced book distribution companies in Europe. We offer a fast, flexible and effective book distribution service stretching across the UK & Continental Europe to Scandinavia, the Baltics and Eastern Europe.
