Memorias de un operador de Bolsa Edwin Lefèvre.2009-11-16 Larry Livingstone tiene una rara habilidad para prever el comportamiento de las cotizaciones de la Bolsa y el ansia de un especulador compulsivo. A los 15 años gana sus primeros 1.000 dólares apostando a la Bolsa en el Boston de finales del siglo XIX. Pero su método no vale en la Gran Manzana de Nueva York, donde, con incombustible tozudez se arruina y enriquece sucesivamente. Una fascinante mezcla de novela histórica, económica y biográfica, donde aritmética, dinero y dulce vida son lo mismo. Memorias de un operador de bolsa parte de una docena de artículos publicados por el periodista y escritor Edwin Lefèvre entre 1922 y 1923 en el Saturday Evening Post y narra en primera persona de vida de un operador de bolsa, alter ego del mago de las finanzas Jesse Livermore (1877-1940).

Jesse Livermore - Boy Plunger Tom Rubython.2015 Jesse Livermore, was the most successful stock trader that ever operated. Singlehandedly he caused the two great Wall Street crashes of 1907 and 1929, making millions from both. Briefly in the early 1930s he was one of the world's richest men with a personal fortune believed to be worth over $150 million. It was too extreme a change of fortunes and Livermore shot himself in a New York hotel lobby in 1940 aged just 63.

Reminiscences of a Stock Operator Edwin Lefèvre.2018-05-27 Reminiscences of a Stock Operator is a thinly veiled account of the life of securities trader Jesse Livermore. Despite the book's age, it continues to offer insights into the art of trading and speculation. In Jack Schwager's Market Wizards, Reminiscences was quoted as a major source of stock trading learning material for experienced and new traders by many of the traders who Schwager interviewed. The book tells the story of Livermore's progression from day trading in the then so-called New England bucket shops, to market speculator, market maker, and market manipulator, and finally to Wall Street where he made and lost his fortune several times over. Along the way, Livermore learns many lessons, which he shares with the reader.

Reminiscences of a Stock Operator (Illustrated) Edwin Lefèvre.2020-05-31 There is nothing new in Wall Street. There can't be because speculation is as old as the hills. Whatever happens in the stock market today has happened before and will happen again. The desire for constant action irrespective of underlying conditions is responsible for many losses in Wall Street even among professionals. I never lose my temper over the stock market. I never argue the tape. Getting sore at the market doesn't get you anywhere. They say you can never go poor taking profits. No, you don't. But neither do you grow rich taking a four-point profit in a bull market. Where I should have made twenty thousand I made two thousand. That was what my conservatism did for me. Remember that stocks are never too high for you to begin buying or too low to begin selling. A man may see straight and clearly and yet become impatient or doubtful when the market takes its time about doing as he figured it must do. That is why so many men in Wall Street...nevertheless lose money. The market does not beat them. They beat themselves, because though they have brains they cannot sit tight. After spending many years in Wall Street and after making and losing millions of dollars I want to tell you this: It never was my thinking that made the big money for me. It always was the sitting. Got that? My sitting tight! Losing money is the least of my troubles. A loss never bothers me after I take it...But being wrong-not taking the loss-that is what does the damage to the pocketbook and to the soul. Prices, like everything else, move along the line of least resistance. They will do whatever comes easiest. The speculator's chief enemies are always boring from within. It is inseparable from human nature to hope and to fear. In speculation when the market goes against you hope that every day will be the last day-and you lose more than you should had you not listened to hope-the same ally that is so potent a success-bringer to empire builders and pioneers, big and little. And when the market goes your way you become fearful that the next day will take away your profit, and you get out-too soon. Fear keeps you from making as much money as you ought to. The successful trader has to fight these two deep-seated instincts...Instead of hoping he must fear; instead of fearing he must hope.

Reminiscences of a Stock Operator Edwin Lefèvre.1965

Reminiscences of a Stock Operator Edwin Lefevre.2020-10-05 I WENT TO WORK when I was just out of grammar school. I got a job as quotation-board boy in a stock-brokerage office. I was quick at figures. At school I did three years of arithmetic in one. I was particularly good at mental arithmetic. As quotation-board boy I posted the numbers on the big board in the customers' room. One of the customers usually sat by the ticker and called out the prices. They couldn't come too fast for me. I have always remembered figures. No trouble at all. There were plenty of other employes in that office. Of course I made friends with the other fellows, but the work I did, if the market was active, kept me too busy from ten A.M. to three P.M. to let me do much talking. I don't care for it, anyhow, during business hours. But a busy market did not keep me from thinking about the work. Those quotations did not represent prices of stocks to me, so many dollars per share. They were numbers. Of course, they meant something. They were always changing. It was all I had to be interested in--the changes. Why did they change? I didn't know. I didn't care. I didn't think about that. I simply saw that they changed. That was all I had to think about five hours every day and two on Saturdays: that they were always changing. That is how I first came to be interested in the behaviour of prices. I had a very good memory for figures. I could remember in detail how the prices had acted on the previous day, just before they went up or down. My fondness for mental arithmetic came in very handy.

The book tells the story of Livermore's progression from day trading in the then so-called New England bucket shops, to market speculator, market maker, and market manipulator, and finally to Wall Street where he made and lost his fortune several times over. Along the way, Livermore learns many lessons, which he happily shares with the reader. Memórias de um Operador da Bolsa Edwin Lefèvre.2021-12-17 A fascinante história de Jesse Livermore, o especulador financeiro que abalou Wall Street nas primeiras décadas do século 20, se tornando o homem mais rico do mundo. Memórias de um operador da bolsa é tanto um relato da trajetória de um dos personagens mais instigantes da história quanto um apanhado de insights importantes para quem quer se aventurar no mercado financeiro. Baseado em entrevistas com um operador da bolsa, o jornalista Edwin Lefèvre relata os percalços de Larry Livingston, pseudônimo para encobrir a identidade de Livermore. Jesse Livermore, Boy Plunger Tom Rubython.2018-04-07 Boy Plunger is the first full-length biography of the legendary share trader, Jesse Livermore, the most successful stock and commodities trader in the history of the stock market. He became famous in the summer of 1929 when most people believed that the American stock market would continue to rise forever as Wall Street was enjoyed an eight-year winning run. Jesse Livermore started a process that would see him sell $450 million of shares short inside a four week period. As he had forecast, the three 'black' days, Thursday 24th October, Monday 28th October and Tuesday 29th October, saw the market drop dramatically and in a week Wall Street lost $30 billion of value. Livermore made nearly $100 million and overnight became one of the richest men in the world. It remains, adjusted for inflation, the most money ever made by any individual in a period of seven days.

Entendamos el trading José Basagoiti Fernández-Rañada,Álvaro Basagoiti Fernández-Rañada.2018-04-19 En esta obra se refleja el estilo y la experiencia de dos traders profesionales en su camino hacia el éxito en los mercados financieros, transmitiendo a través de la palabra los pilares básicos de actuación para lograr la consistencia en resultados. El libro recoge parte del sistema utilizado por los operadores, así como la descripción en primera persona de las fases y etapas, no siempre positivas, que hay que experimentar para poder llegar a ganarse la vida con la inversión. La realidad del trading suele diferir mucho de lo que la mayoría de personas cree, quedando claro que la imagen que se proyecta al exterior endulza un escenario de una dureza extrema y que exige unos requerimientos a los que no todo el mundo tiene acceso. Esta es la premisa que valoran los autores para explicar, con la más estricta sinceridad, las cualidades y condiciones que se deben tener para poder comenzar con buen pie en este sector. El objetivo del manual será, por tanto, facilitar el recorrido a inversores, sin importar el nivel de experiencia, que están luchando día a día en los mercados bursátiles en busca de una buena rentabilidad para sus ahorros, algo que, debido a la inflación y a los bajos tipos de interés actuales, está pasando de ser opcional a obligatorio.
