Fastwalker Jacques Vallee, Tracy Tormé.1996 A man named Vulcan is the Key to Operation Alintel in its final high-tension hours... Already, an Air Force pilot has died in a strange accident over Dreamland, a secret base in Nevada. The President of the United States has not yet been briefed. Scientists from all over the world are being assembled inside Pyramid Base... The Manipulator is General Bushnell, head of a secret organization which has been trying to capture a flying saucer since the early days of the UFO mystery. Suave but utterly ruthless, this cold warrior has every tool of high-tech wizardry at his fingertips and a crack team of skilled operatives under his control. The Investigator is Peter Keller, a dedicated journalist with a lot to prove, struggling to keep his integrity in the sensational atmosphere of tabloid media. A flawed but gutsy professional, he's ready to travel to the ends of the Earth to solve the mystery of UFO abductions. The Victim is Rachel Rand, a young woman caught between the nightmarish alien beings who stalked her on a lonely Long Island road and a bizarre cult of UFO believers who are convinced that the end of the world is imminent. Can she trust the man she loves to help her discover the truth about her tormentors? Now an unearthly craft has been secretly captured by the scientific team of General Bushnell. What it contains can indeed spell the end of human history as we know it. But are human beings ready for that knowledge? And who will control it?

Geographical Information Systems in Archaeology James Conolly, Mark Lake, Mark W. Lake.2006-05-04 Geographical Information Systems has moved from the domain of the computer specialist into the wider archaeological community, providing it with an exciting new research method. This clearly written but rigorous book provides a comprehensive guide to that use. Topics covered include: the theoretical context and the basics of GIS; data acquisition including database design; interpolation of elevation models; exploratory data analysis including spatial queries; statistical spatial analysis; map algebra; spatial operations including the calculation of slope and aspect, filtering and erosion modeling; methods for analysing regions; visibility analysis; network analysis including hydrological modeling; the production of high quality output for paper and electronic publication; and the use and production of metadata. Offering an extensive range of archaeological examples, it is an invaluable source of practical information for all archaeologists, whether engaged in cultural resource management or academic research. This is essential reading for both the novice and the advanced user.

Darwin's Mistake (UK Only) Hans. J. Zillmer.2015-02-25 Yes, there were cataclysms (among them The Flood) in the course of history, but no, there was no evolution. The Earth's crust is relatively young and no more than a few thousand years ago; its poles were free of ice. Published in nine languages, this international best-seller puts the latest discoveries and new evidence against Darwin's 'Theory of Evolution'. The author, who owes his insights and expertise to numerous excavations he participated in, describes recent findings that -- in line with suppressed results of scientific research -- prove what seems unthinkable to us today: Darwin is wrong.

War and Imperialism in Republican Rome, 327-70 B.C. William Vernon Harris.1985 Between 327 and 70 B.C. the Romans expanded their empire throughout the Mediterranean world. This highly original study looks at Roman attitudes and behavior that lay behind their quest for power. How did Romans respond to warfare, year after year? How important were the material gains of military success--land, slaves, and other riches--commonly supposed to have been merely an incidental result? What value is there in the claim of the contemporary historian Polybius that the Romans were driven by a greater and greater ambition to expand their empire? The author answers these questions within an analytic framework, and comes to an interpretation of Roman imperialism that differs sharply from the conventional ones.

Regionalism in Hellenistic and Roman Asia Minor Hugh Elton.2019-01-22 Regions and regionalism have been staples of historical analysis for the Greek world for a very long time. What is meant by a region, however, is not always obvious. The contributions in this volume seek to address the question of defining regions and working out the implications of regionalism along different dimensions of analysis for Asia Minor in the Hellenistic and Roman periods. Looking at culture, coinage, political institutions, the papers explore different markers of regional identity, consider ways in which these identities may remain stable or change over time, review the character of the interaction between regional entities and hegemonic powers, and challenge the usefulness in some cases of regional analysis. Questions of ethnicity are also addressed. This volume will be of interest to historians working in Asia Minor and also to anyone concerned with the conceptual questions around regions and regionalism in the Mediterranean world.

Transition Report, 1997 Update European Bank for Reconstruction and Development.1997 Takes forward the examination of economic development that was provided in the Transition Report, published in November 1996. The general picture presented is of slightly slower growth in Eastern Europe and the Baltics and of continued output falls in much of the Commonwealth of Independent States, although some of the smaller CIS states are starting to see growth. Despite the progress made in market-orientated transition in eastern Europe and the Baltics, significant challenges remain in deepening reforms, maintaining stability and adapting institutions and behaviours so that the investment climate is further enhanced. In particular, the building and strengthening of capital markets and the commercialization of infrastructure are of importance Technical Communication for Readers and Writers Brenda R. Sims.2002-09-24 Sims' Technical Communication for Readers and Writers, Second Edition, guides students in planning, writing, and designing effective documents to meet the needs of users and readers. Thoroughly revised, expanded, and redesigned in full color, this edition gives students the tools they need to create appropriate technical documents for a multitude of writing situations and audiences. The text takes a process approach rather than the model-based approach of older tech writing texts.

Giants T.M.Sparks.2013-06-19 The eyes of that species of extinct giants, whose bones fill the mounds of America, have gazed on Niagara, as ours do now. Abraham Lincoln 1848 Niagara Falls The surprising information found in this book, has been compiled together with many exciting pictures and much research. It is for those who understand that our history regarding facts, can only be obtained nowadays by tracing it ourselves! Everyone already knows about the dumbing down of societies by governments through media and other sources. Many historic realities such as the giants of old have been hidden from public spectators to keep the Darwin delusion alive. Mainstream media alongside scientists have created this Mafioso way of reporting only what keeps with the evolution agenda. Discoveries proclaiming something different are discarded by scientist and shows like Discovery on purpose, thwarting truth on the basis of their arrogant pride against man and God. But now at last the truth has been coming out, and their cover up has been surfacing. I hope this exciting book fascinates you, and ignites your curiosity for more!

Mo41 Paul Blake Smith.2016-02-10 MO41, The Bombshell Before Roswell by Paul Blake Smith, might well be the most exciting, shocking, and impactful event - and now book subject - not just in American history, but all of human history. Did three extraterrestrials really crash-land their circular spaceship on a farm just outside of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, in mid-April of 1941? Was this stunning recovery then taken to a secret hiding place beneath perhaps the most recognizable building in the world? Was an aspect of the scientifically examined alien craft's propulsion system applied to the U.S. nuclear weapons program to help win World War II? The serious, amazing pre-Roswell claims and quotes, rumors and insights, opinions and documented facts are all examined here, in proper chronological, easy-to-read order, the only book to ever comprehensively explore perhaps the wildest nonfiction story of all time. The results make up a case that could win in a court of law, or at least in the court of public opinion. You, the reader, decide! Grab your copy today!

Historical GIS Ian N. Gregory,Paul S. Ell.2007-12-13 Historical GIS is an emerging field that uses Geographical Information Systems (GIS) to research the geographies of the past. Ian Gregory and Paul Ell's study, first published in 2007, comprehensively defines this field, exploring all aspects of using GIS in historical research. A GIS is a form of database in which every item of data is linked to a spatial location. This technology offers unparalleled opportunities to add insight and rejuvenate historical research through the ability to identify and use the geographical characteristics of data. Historical GIS introduces the basic concepts and tools underpinning GIS technology, describing and critically assessing the visualisation, analytical and e-science methodologies that it enables and examining key scholarship where GIS has been used to enhance research debates. The result is a clear agenda charting how GIS will develop as one of the most important approaches to scholarship in historical geography.

Explaining Monetary and Financial Innovation Peter Bernholz,Roland Vaubel.2014-06-26 This book discusses theories of monetary and financial innovation and applies them to key monetary and financial innovations in history - starting with the use of silver bars in Mesopotamia and ending with the emergence of the Eurodollar market in London. The key monetary innovations are coinage (Asia minor, China, India), the payment of interest on loans, the bill of exchange and deposit banking (Venice, Antwerp, Amsterdam, London). The main financial innovation is the emergence of bond markets (also starting in Venice). Episodes of innovation are contrasted with relatively stagnant environments (the Persian Empire, the Roman Empire, the Spanish Empire). The comparisons suggest that small, open and competing jurisdictions have been more innovative than large empires - as has been suggested by David Hume in 1742.
