Les Politiques Agricoles Et de Développement Rural en Europe
Pauliat|Senimon|Bonnotte.2021

Les politiques de développement rural Paul Houée, Geneviève Cloerec.1996 Nourri d'expériences autant que de recherches, ce livre propose aux responsables, élus, enseignants ou étudiants qu'intéresse l'évolution des territoires ruraux, un ouvrage de synthèse pour l'action : partant des mesures administratives et des pratiques publiques, il remonte au contexte socio-économique et politique qui les a suscitées et qui, peu à peu, a modifié l'espace rural et les activités agricoles. Cette réédition tient compte des mutations intervenues depuis les ruptures de 1989 (économie globalisée, réforme de la PAC et compromis du GATT) et des nouvelles exigences de l'environnement et d'un développement durable.

La dynamique des sociétés rurales face aux projets participatifs de développement rural Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Rural Institutions and Participation Service.1997

Les politiques de développement en Tunisie Aude-Annabelle Canesse.2014-05-14 Participation et gouvernance sont autant de thématiques renouvelées ces dernières décennies sur la scène du développement international, et illustrées sous l'ère Ben Ali par la mise en œuvre des Groupements de développement agricole (GDA). En conjuguant l'Analyse des politiques publiques et les Development Studies et en inscrivant les recherches dans une perspective diachronique et synchronique, l'ouvrage propose un panorama global et multiscale des politiques, institutions et outils de gestion du développement, identifiant les enjeux nationaux et internationaux. Préalablement, le terrain est articulé avec la méthodologie : en effet les conditions d'une recherche réalisée sur et au cœur de l'action publique révéleront rapidement, et en filigrane, la sensibilité de ces thématiques et la nécessité pour le chercheur d'identifier les moyens de naviguer sur le terrain et de contourner les stratégies d'encadrement à l'œuvre dans un système autoritaire. Plus allant, le développement apparaîtra comme un mode d'encadrement du territoire et des populations, et de captation des ressources, assurant la pérennisation d'un système et de fortes disparités territoriales, mettant à l'index le milieu rural, pourtant majoritaire dans le pays. Le Printemps arabe donnera une autre dimension à l'échec de ces politiques du développement.

Manuel d'élaboration des politiques agricoles Benoît

Daviron, Benoît Faivre Dupaigne. 2004 La place de l'intervention publique dans le secteur agricole des pays en développement a été largement reconsidérée au cours des deux dernières décennies. Malgré un bilan très mitigé des expériences de libéralisation des marchés et de désengagement d'États autrefois omniprésents dans les actions de développement rural, l'évolution des esprits a été telle que l'intervention publique, hier encore légitime, doit aujourd'hui être justifiée sur la base d'arguments économiques précis. Le présent manuel propose une démarche originale d'élaboration des politiques agricoles, fondée sur la construction d'argumentaires légitimant l'intervention publique. Cette construction présente la double caractéristique de mobiliser le langage de l'économie, aujourd'hui dominant, et de reposer sur une dynamique de concertation entre acteurs publics et privés du secteur. L'argumentaire sera en effet d'autant plus solide et convaincant qu'il aura été élaboré conjointement par les différentes parties prenantes du développement rural. Ce travail est le résultat d'une réflexion impulsée par le ministère français des Affaires étrangères et menée par le groupe Pôle de formateurs africains en politique agricole . Il se compose de trois parties : une partie méthodologique décrit en détail la démarche en huit étapes, présentant pour chacune son objectif, son contenu, sa mise en œuvre, les concepts et outils qu'elle mobilise. Trois études de cas illustrent l'application de la démarche à une situation concrète. Enfin, des fiches expliquent les différents concepts utilisés et éclairent le lecteur sur certains points de méthode. Ce manuel constitue à la fois un support pédagogique, un guide pour les formateurs en politiques agricoles et un manuel de référence. Il exige une compréhension de base de l'économie mais ne fait appel à aucune connaissance approfondie de formalisation.

Hélène Pauliat, Michel Senimon, Christophe Bonnotte.2021-11-08

L'agriculture est-elle un outil d'attractivité des territoires ? Au moment où est rediscutée la politique agricole commune, il paraît opportun d'apporter des réponses aux attentes des institutions et de la société sur le développement rural en Europe, la gouvernance des politiques agricoles et l'avenir du secteur professionnel agricole, en termes de formation et de protection de l'environnement. Alors que le monde rural est accusé de tous les maux car son activité polluerait, il faut remettre en perspective les enjeux de l'agriculture, en termes de souveraineté alimentaire, de protection des ressources et des espaces naturels, de renforcement de l'attractivité des territoires par des circuits courts, mais aussi d'accès au foncier et de transmission des exploitations. Dans un contexte de transition agro-écologique, il est nécessaire de former les agriculteurs de demain, mais aussi

A travers une approche multidisciplinaire, l'auteur décrit l'absence de marché structuré, la non-fiabilité de la monnaie, l'absence de crédit aux petits producteurs, la faiblesse de la recherche et de la vulgarisation agricole, la dégradation des moyens de transport, le non paiement des salaires, la corruption, l'impunité, l'allégeance des secteurs économiques et sociaux au pouvoir politique.

Politiques agricoles et territoires Vincent Piveteau,Francis Aubert,Bertrand Schmitt.2009-04-22 Agriculture et territoire ont partie liée. C'est en combinant les questions de développement de l'agriculture avec les préoccupations d'aménagement du territoire que l'Inra et la Diact ont croisé leurs perspectives et réflexions sur l'inscription spatiale de ce secteur et précisé les enjeux territoriaux liés à ses orientations et à ses politiques. Cet ouvrage dresse le portrait dynamique d'une agriculture en transformation profonde dans ses rapports au territoire, orientée par les politiques agricoles nationales et européennes avec lesquelles composent des acteurs locaux soucieux de développement durable.

Politique agricole, un modèle européen Louis Mahé,François Ortalo-Magné.2001 Les politiques agricoles, française et européenne, vont trop souvent à l'encontre de leurs objectifs politiques déclarés et des attentes de la société. Agricultures familiales et développement rural en

Méditerranée Réseau Agricultures familiales

comparées.2000-01-01 Agricultures familiales et développement rural en Méditerranée est le cinquième ouvrage du RAFAC. Il se situe en droite ligne des travaux de ce réseau concernant l'environnement de l'agriculture familiale. Comme toutes les études du RAFAC, il s'agit d'une analyse comparée. Elle débute par une clarification méthodologique et conceptuelle. Onze études nationales traitent de l'état des zones rurales dans une perspective nationale puis régionale. Elles abordent les problèmes de développement des zones rurales et leurs déterminants. Elles s'efforcent de mettre l'accent sur les relations entre agriculture et développement rural. La synthèse des études nationales tente de définir les invariants et les différences entre les pays. Elle met ainsi à jour l'effet de l'histoire mais aussi celui des politiques économiques. Les explications énoncées débouchent sur une analyse comparée des politiques de développement rural mises en œuvre actuellement dans chacun des pays. Les conclusions avancées permettent de dessiner quelques perspectives sur l'avenir des zones rurales en

Politiques publiques et développement rural durable Gérard

Tukumbi Ramazani.2022-09-02 Les politiques publiques de développement conçues en RDC depuis 1965 ne permettent pas de booster le développement rural durable. Ce livre prend pour exemple la province de Tanganyika. Cette situation s'explique par la faible capacité du système politique à mobiliser et affecter les ressources financières pour matérialiser les programmes et projets de développement rural. Le désengagement de l'État dans les zones rurales justifie l'intervention des acteurs non étatiques pour l'éducation, la santé, les activités génératrices de revenu.

Mais cela ne satisfait pas les besoins essentiels des bénéficiaires du fait de la mauvaise implication des autorités traditionnelles dans la gestion des projets de développement communautaire.

La réforme de la politique agricole et l'économie rurale dans les pays de l'OCDE .1998

Le développement socio-économique des zones rurales occupe désormais une place significative dans l'élaboration des politiques agricoles des pays de l'OCDE. Pourtant, il n'existe toujours pas d'analyse approfondie des relations réciproques existant entre le secteur agricole et l'économie rurale. Quelles conséquences les changements structurels de l'agriculture ont-ils pour le monde rural ? Quel rôle doivent jouer les politiques agricoles ? Autant de questions fondamentales auxquelles entend répondre cette étude qui compose d'un rapport principal et d'études de cas consacrées au Canada, la France, la Grèce, au Japon, la Norvège, la Nouvelle-Zélande et la Suisse. Les politiques classiques de soutien à l'agriculture sont de moins en moins performantes pour faire face aux objectifs de développement rural, c'est l'une des conclusions essentielles de ce rapport. La réforme des politiques agricoles peut cependant améliorer la contribution du secteur agro-alimentaire au développement viable des économies rurales, même si les effets positifs ne sont pas immédiats. La compétitivité des zones rurales aurait tout à gagner d'une approche cohérente, bien coordonnée et bien ciblée visant à diversifier les activités, promouvoir des produits régionaux de qualité, donner des informations aux producteurs, accorder des paiements directs et assurer la fourniture de biens d'intérêt collectif. Un défi majeur pour les décideurs sera de trouver un équilibre entre les préoccupations sociales et environnementales dans les zones rurales et la nécessité de renforcer l'efficacité économique de ces dernières.

La multifonctionnalité de l'activité agricole et sa reconnaissance par les politiques publiques .2003

L'émergence du concept de multifonctionnalité oblige à constater l'importance du renouvellement auquel elle contraint les décideurs publics et la communauté de chercheurs.
