Intrigue and Revolution Yaron Harel.2015-06-18 Yaron Harel has constructed a dramatic story of how eleven chief rabbis all became the subject of controversy and were subsequently dismissed. This took place against a background of crime and licentiousness rarely documented in the context of Jewish society. Set firmly in the social and political developments of the time, this colourful picture is very different from the commonly accepted image of Jewish communities in the Ottoman Empire.

Olaf Holzapfel, Nahum Tevet .2016 The Rough Law of Gardens documents Berlin-based German artist Olaf Holzapfel (b. 1967) and Tel Aviv-based Israeli sculptor Nahum Tevet (b. 1946) eponymous joint exhibition exploring the intergenerational differences between two artists. Holzapfel and Tevet each reject the global logic of growth and traverse the bounds of sculpture and painting to produce work that involves ideas on materiality, learning, and memory. Rather than a conventional two-person show, however, the concurrent exhibitions and the accompanying softcover catalog highlight the ways in which work by one artist is developed, exaggerated, inverted, or simply ignored in the work of the other. The juxtaposition of the very different approaches of these two artists raises questions regarding the relationship, or lack thereof, between art practices, and reflects their respective connection with or isolation from historical circumstances and social realities. With introductory essay by curator Galia Bar Or, this exhibition was concurrently shown at the Kunstmuseum, Germany, and the Mishkan Museum of Art, Israel (2015).

Efrat Natan / Nahum Tevet Michael Buhrs,Verena Hein.2017-12 A long friendship links artists Efrat Natan and Nahum Tevet (*1947 and 1946). Both began their careers in Israel in the 1970s and both are now prominent figures in the art scene there. While Natan uses a poetic, formal vocabulary to examine her childhood in a kibbutz, Tevet develops monumental, three-dimensional installations that investigate experiences of space, limitations, color, and form.The Museum Villa Stuck is the first institution to present a juxtaposition of the two artists' work. Both the catalogue and exhibition feature early works and documents of actions performed together, along with more recent works by Natan and Tevet. Profound essays and a conversation with the two artists conducted by the curator Verena Hein provide an in-depth look at their oeuvres.Exhibition: 26 October, 2017--28 January, 2018, Museum Villa Stuck, Munich

The Turn to Provisionality in Contemporary Art Raphael Rubinstein.2023-01-12 In his influential essay “Provisional Painting,” Raphael Rubinstein applied the term “provisional” to contemporary painters whose work looked intentionally casual, dashed-off, tentative, unfinished or self-cancelling; who appeared to have deliberately turned away from strong painting for something that seemed to constantly risk failure or inconsequence. In this collection of essays, Rubinstein expands the scope of his original article by surveying the historical and philosophical underpinnings of provisionality in recent visual art, as well as examining the works of individual artists in detail. He also engages crucial texts by Samuel Beckett and philosopher Gianni Vattimo. Re-examining several decades of painting practices, Rubinstein argues that provisionality, in all its many forms, has been both a foundational element in the history of modern art and the encapsulation of an attitude that is profoundly contemporary.

The Courage to be Alone Lóránd Hegyi.2004 The essays gathered in this book are the result of an historical-anthropological observation: after the crisis in narration, carefully analyzed in the recent past by François Lyotard, we confront ourselves today with the tendency, in contemporary artistic creation characterized by expression, of discourse re-invention efforts. In fact, artists, through their work, concentrate on the real experience of their own personal history--contextualizing it in historical, cultural and social situations. All the examples presented in this book are the product of an anthropological outlook on man and raise the reader's awareness of the micro-community experiences that are nothing but the reflection of micro-utopias born from the absence of the great teleological utopias.

Chicago Makes Modern Mary Jane Jacob,Jacquelynn Baas.2012-12-15 Chicago is a city dedicated to the modern—from the skyscrapers that punctuate its skyline to the spirited style that inflects many of its dwellings and institutions, from the New Bauhaus to Hull-House. Despite this, the city has long been overlooked as a locus for modernism in the arts, its rich tradition of architecture, design, and education disregarded. Still the modern in Chicago continues to thrive, as new generations of artists incorporate its legacy into fresh visions for the future. Chicago Makes Modern boldly remaps twentieth-century modernism from our new-century perspective by asking an imperative question: How did the modern mind—deeply reflective, yet simultaneously directed—help to dramatically alter our perspectives on the world and make it new? Returning the city to its rightful position at the heart of a multidimensional movement that changed the face of the twentieth century, Chicago Makes Modern applies the missions of a brilliant group of innovators to our own time. From the radical social and artistic perspectives implemented by Jane Addams, John Dewey, and Buckminster Fuller to the avant-garde designs of László Moholy-Nagy and Mies van der Rohe, the prodigious offerings of Chicago's modern minds left an indelible legacy for future generations. Staging the city as a laboratory for some of our most heralded cultural experiments, Chicago Makes Modern reimagines the modern as a space of self-realization and social progress—where individual visions triggered profound change. Featuring contributions from an acclaimed roster of contemporary artists, critics, and scholars, this book demonstrates how and why the Windy City continues to drive the modern world.
