Ninety-Three Victor Hugo. 2022-11-13 Ninety-Three (Quatrevingt-treize) is the last novel by the French writer Victor Hugo. Published in 1874, shortly after the bloody upheaval of the Paris Commune, the novel concerns the Revolt in the Vendée and Chouannerie – the counter-revolutionary revolts in 1793 during the French Revolution. It is divided into three parts, but not chronologically; each part tells a different story, offering a different view of historical general events. The action mainly takes place in Brittany and in Paris. Ayn Rand greatly praised this book (and Hugo's writing in general), acknowledged it as a source of inspiration, and even wrote an introduction to one of its English-language editions.

Early History of Cosmic Ray Studies Yataro Sekido, Harry Elliot. 2012-12-06 On the occasion of the International Conference on Cosmic Rays held in Kyoto in August 1979 five aged members of the cosmic ray fraternity, H. Elliot, V. L. Ginzburg, B. Peters, Y. Sekido, and J. A. Simpson met together as a dinner party devoted to the enjoyment of Japanese cuisine and reminiscences of our younger days. This pleasant occasion called to of our own age as well as some eminent seniors not present at the mind the many friends conference whose recollections would have further enriched and enlivened our evening. By the time the dinner came to an end we had agreed that the compilation of a more extensive collection of personal reminiscences would be an interesting and worthwhile undertaking. Accordingly, the next day we held an editorial meeting to draw up a list of potential authors and two of us, the present editors, started work on the project. In putting the book together our intention has been to try to capture and record through these personal accounts something of the atmosphere, the excitement and the frustrations of research in cosmic rays as experienced at first hand by some of the practitioners in the field. It has never been our intention that it should comprise a systematic history of the subject. Neither, unfortunately, can it be a fully representative collection since practical limits to the size of the volume alone would preclude that.

Cultural Organizations, Networks and Mediators in Contemporary Ibero-America Diana Roig-Sanz, Jaume Subirana. 2020-01-03 This book proposes an innovative conceptual framework to explore cultural organizations at a multilateral level and cultural mediators as key figures in cultural and institutionalization processes. Specifically, it analyzes the role of Ibero-American mediators in the institutionalization of Hispanic and Lusophone cultures in the first half of the 20th century by means of two institutional networks: PEN (the non-governmental writer's association) and the International Institute of Intellectual Cooperation (predecessor to UNESCO). Attempting to combine cultural and global history, sociology, and literary studies, the book uses an analytical focus on intercultural networks and cultural transfer to investigate the multiple activities and roles that these mediators and cultural organizations set in motion. Literature has traditionally studied major figures and important centers of cultural production, but other regions and localities also played a crucial role in the development of intellectual cooperation. This book reappraises the place of Ibero-America in international cultural relations and retrieves the lost history of key secondary actors. The book will appeal to scholars from international relations, global and cultural history, sociology, postcolonial Studies, world and comparative literature, and New Hispanisms. Spaces and Identities in Border Regions Christian Wille, Rachel Reckinger, Sonja Kmec, Markus Hesse. 2015-05-15 Spatial and identity research operates with differentiations and relations that are particularly useful for examining border regions in which social and geopolitical demarcations diverge. The authors of this volume investigate spatial and identity constructions in crossborder contexts as they appear in everyday, institutional, and media practices. The results are discussed with a keen eye for obliquely aligned spaces and identities linked to governmental issues of standardization and subjectivation. Research is based on empirical surveys conducted in Germany, France, Belgium, and Luxembourg.

Enseigner les sciences et la technologie au préscolaire et au primaire Marcel Thouin. 2017-06-15 T00:00:00-04:00 Enseigner les sciences et les technologies au préscolaire et au primaire constitue une référence indispensable pour les étudiants des programmes de formation des maîtres du préscolaire et du primaire, pour les enseignants en exercice, et pour tous ceux qui s'intéressent aux meilleures façons d'enseigner ces matières. Cette nouvelle édition entièrement revue et augmentée comporte des chapitres inédits qui présentent la Progression des apprentissages au primaire en sciences et technologies, et offrent un aperçu de la grande variété des activités d'enseignement dans ces disciplines. De multiples mises à jour et améliorations ont été apportées à tous les autres chapitres et aux annexes de l'ouvrage. On y trouve de nombreux exercices que des étudiants peuvent réaliser en équipe. Le livre fournit ainsi les repères culturels essentiels pour favoriser l'intégration des savoirs enseignés, pour employer plus efficacement les technologies de l'information et de la communication (à l'école ou dans des musées scientifiques), ainsi que pour mieux évaluer les apprentissages et le matériel didactique. L'approche proposée suit une direction conforme aux orientations de la didactique des sciences. Par conséquent, tous les aspects de la didactique sont abordés selon une démarche centrée sur le progrès des élèves. L'auteur suggère aussi un canevas de planification de problèmes accompagné de plusieurs exemples. Les volets pratiques de l'ouvrage témoignent de l'importance accordée à la réalité d'une salle de classe. Les annexes traitent les principales difficultés d'apprentissage, donnent des conseils pour que les diverses activités se déroulent en toute sécurité et guident les élèves afin qu'ils puissent participer à des expo-sciences et relever des défis technologiques.

Dictionnaire des artistes de langue française en Amérique du Nord David Karel. 1992 Le choix des artistes répond aux critères de langue (le français comme langue maternelle), de métier (pratique ou enseignement d'un art visuel), de lieu (Amérique du Nord, y compris le Mexique, sauf les Antilles) et d'époque : (être né avant 1901). Ainsi délimité, le champ demeure très vaste (plus de 2500 notices) et reflète un multiculturalisme historique d'envergure que nous présente bien cet ouvrage de référence solidement documenté. [SDM].

Toward a New Poetics Serge Gavronsky. 1994-12-01 A quiet revolution is taking place in avant-garde French poetry and prose. In this collection of twelve interviews with some of France's most important poets and writers, Serge Gavronsky introduces American readers to these exciting new developments. As Gavronsky explains, a neolyricism is now replacing the formalism of the 1960s, '70s, and '80s. In his substantial introduction, Gavrinsky notes how the ideological definition of writing (écriture) has given way to more open forms of writing. Human experiences of the most ordinary kinds are finding a place in the text. These interviews offer a view of the poets' and writers' creative processes and range over such topics as current literary theory, the impact of American poetry in France, and the place of feminism in contemporary French writing. Each interview is accompanied by samples of the writer's work in French and in Gavrinsky's English translations. Toward a New Poetics provides a highly informative cultural and critical perspective on contemporary writing in France, introducing us to works which are now transforming the idea of literature itself.

It analyzes the development by focusing on both the interior and the external influences. Italian mathematics in that period was shaped by a colorful array of strong personalities who concentrated their efforts on a select number of fields and won international recognition and respect in an incredibly short time. Consequently, Italy was considered a third mathematical power after France and Germany.

Postcoloniality Margaret A. Majumdar. 2007 Postcolonial theory is one of the key issues of scholarly debates worldwide; debates, so the author argues, which are rather sterile and characterized by a repetitive reworking of old hackneyed issues, focussing on cultural questions of language and identity in particular. She explores the divergent responses to the debates on globalization.

La France de 1848 à nos jours Maurice Agulhon.2008 La 4e de couv. indique : Voici réunis en un seul volume ces trois classiques des études d'histoire que sont La France de 1848 à 1914 , La France de 1914 à 1940 et La France de 1940 à nos jours . Les auteurs ont bâti une approche globale où les champs du politique, de l'économique et du social sont tour à tour décrits et analysés. De nombreuses lectures documentaires émaillent l'exposé des faits et apportent l'éclairage indispensable à la compréhension de notre histoire. Le souci d'exactitude et de clarté dans la synthèse est constant : aucune allégeance, aucune querelle d'école ne biaise le propos. Cette somme permet d'étudier en continuité la succession des périodes et des événements : révolution industrielle, participation de la France aux grands conflits mondiaux, essor colonial puis décolonisation, choc de la mondialisation, etc

Moch positions her work within immigration theory, connecting migration studies to theories about state projects of assimilation and about cultures of inclusion and exclusion.

Communism and the Emergence of Democracy Harald Wydra.2007-02-08 Before democracy becomes an institutionalised form of political authority, the rupture with authoritarian forms of power causes deep uncertainty about power and outcomes. This book connects the study of democratisation in eastern Europe and Russia to the emergence and crisis of communism. Wydra argues that the communist past is not simply a legacy but needs to be seen as a social organism in gestation, where critical events produce new expectations, memories and symbols that influence meanings of democracy. By examining a series of pivotal historical events, he shows that democratisation is not just a matter of institutional design, but rather a matter of consciousness and leadership under conditions of extreme and traumatic incivility. Rather than adopting the opposition between non-democratic and democratic, Wydra argues that the communist experience must be central to the study of the emergence and nature of democracy in (post-) communist countries.
