Assessment of the NIOSH Head-and-Face Anthropometric Survey of U.S. Respirator Users

Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee for the Assessment of the NIOSH Head-and-Face Anthropometric Survey of U.S. Respirator Users. 2007-04-30 NIOSH and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) share responsibility for overseeing respiratory protection in the workplace and have established regulations for this purpose. Specifically, NIOSH has issued regulations which define respirator testing and certification. OSHA has issued regulations which define conditions under which employers are required to maintain respiratory protection programs in general industry, shipyards, marine terminals, and construction. In 2005, NIOSH contracted with the Institute of Medicine (IOM) to study the NIOSH-sponsored Anthrotech study along with its supporting information and reports, and to examine and report on the adequacy and relevance of the study protocol, the analyses conducted, the resulting anthropometric dataset, and the appropriateness of the respirator fit-test panels derived from the new dataset. Assessment of the NIOSH Head-and-Face Anthropometric Survey of U.S. Respirator Users focuses on the establishment of the scientific base required for certification standards of respirators, not their use in the workplace. This report describes and analyzes the anthropometric measurements performed by Anthrotech for its NIOSH-sponsored study. This report looks at the survey methods used by Anthrotech in the study, and examines how Anthrotech analyzed its data to derive fit-test panels and suggests some ways that analysis could be improved. This report discusses future directions, pointing toward further analyses of the data and offers suggestions for moving from research to practice.

Improving Palliative Care for Cancer National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, National Cancer Policy Board.2001-10-19 In our society's aggressive pursuit of cures for cancer, we have neglected symptom control and comfort care. Less than one percent of the National Cancer Institute's budget is spent on any aspect of palliative care research or education, despite the half million people who die of cancer each year and the larger number living with cancer and its symptoms. Improving Palliative Care for Cancer examines the barriers—scientific, policy, and social—that keep those in need from getting good palliative care. It goes on to recommend public- and private-sector actions that would lead to the development of more effective palliative interventions; better information about currently used interventions; and greater knowledge about, and access to, palliative care for all those with cancer who would benefit from it.

Tobacco and Health K. Slama.2012-12-06 Over 1,100 delegates from a hundred countries attended the 9th World Conference on Tobacco and Health. After five days of debate, several important resolutions were adopted unanimously and will be landmarks in the fight against tobacco. This great success is due to three facts which emerged from the discussions: 1. It appears clearly now that the risks associated with tobacco are much greater than previously assumed. Out of two regular smokers, one will die from a tobacco related disease. 2. Reducing tobacco consumption can be achieved but the data collected in several countries show that it requires a global strategy. This strategy was much debated during the conference.

The resolutions adopted emphasize the agreement of the delegates on the main points. Action to fight the growing epidemic of tobacco-attributable disease and death involves convincing the general public, the medical community and decision-makers of the need to act for tobacco control. The most efficient tools for helping individuals never to start or successfully to stop using tobacco should be developed; effective tobacco control endeavors are required to counteract the actions of the powerful and influential tobacco manufacturers. With the help and under the aegis of WHO, DICC, IUATLD, ISFC, IOCD, and IUHPE, an international alliance for health and against tobacco should unite all those who are engaged in this fight.
