The Complexity of Identity and Interaction in Language Education Nathanael Rudolph, Ali Fuad Selvi, Bedrettin Yazan. 2020-08-07 This book addresses two critical calls pertaining to language education. Firstly, for attention to be paid to the transdisciplinary nature and complexity of learner identity and interaction in the classroom and secondly, for the need to attend to conceptualizations of and approaches to manifestations of (in)equity in the sociohistorical contexts in which they occur. Collectively, the chapters envision classrooms and educational institutions as sites both shaping and shaped by larger (trans)communal negotiations of being and belonging, in which individuals affirm and/or problematize essentialized and idealized nativeness and community membership. The volume, comprised of chapters contributed by a diverse array of researcher-practitioners living, working and/or studying around the globe, is intended to inform, empower and inspire stakeholders in language education to explore, potentially reimagine, and ultimately critically and practically transform, the communities in which they live, work and/or study.

La pratique du travail social en santé mentale Christiane Bergeron-Leclerc, Marie-Hélène Morin, Bernadette Dallaire, Cécile Cormier. 2019-06-12 T00:00:00-04:00 La pratique du travail social en santé mentale s'est transformée et dépasse maintenant les frontières des organisations rattachées exclusivement à ce domaine. Les travailleurs sociaux sont quotidiennement en situation d'intervention auprès de personnes ayant des troubles mentaux, diagnostiqués ou non, et dont la gravité varie. Aujourd'hui, cette pratique se déploie principalement dans la communauté, à proximité des personnes atteintes et des familles qui les soutiennent. Elle allie différentes méthodes d'intervention et s'appuie sur des approches variées, avec comme ancrage transversal la perspective du rétablissement. La complexité et la richesse de cette discipline proviennent des multiples aspects devant être considérés dans un contexte d'intervention, soit la personne et ses vulnérabilités, de même que les environnements familiaux, groupaux, communautaires et collectifs, et leurs interactions. Cet ouvrage, qui s'adresse tant aux étudiants qu'aux intervenants des milieux institutionnels et communautaires, vise à fournir des repères pour bien apprendre, comprendre et s'engager dans ce champ d'action du travail social désormais multiforme. Christiane Bergeron-Leclerc est travailleuse sociale et professeure au Département des sciences humaines et sociales de l'Université du Québec à Chicoutimi. Ses recherches portent sur les processus et les pratiques d'inclusion sociale et de rétablissement des personnes ayant des troubles mentaux. Marie-Hélène Morin est travailleuse sociale et professeure au Département de psychosociologie et travail social de l'Université du Québec à Rimouski (UQAR). Ses activités de recherche et de formation portent sur l'intervention familiale et les proches aidants dans le domaine de la santé mentale. Bernadette Dallaire est professeure titulaire à l'École de travail social et de criminologie de l'Université Laval. Elle combine des expertises en santé mentale et en gérontologie, et a étudié l'approche du rétablissement en santé mentale, de même que les interventions psychosociales et médicales auprès des jeunes en difficulté. Cécile Cormier est travailleuse sociale spécialisée en santé mentale et professeure au Département de psychosociologie et travail social de l'UQAR. Elle est aussi responsable de la formation pratique du campus de Lévis et membre du Collectif de recherche participative sur la pauvreté en milieu rural.

La margelle du puits Benoît Bourguin, Paulo Rodrigues, Paul Scolas. 2016-10-14 Adolphe Gesché occupe une place singulière dans le paysage théologique contemporain. La singularité de son ton doit beaucoup à sa fibre littéraire fait assez rare chez les théologiens de métier ! De fait, il écrit et sait écrire. Sa sensibilité d'écrivain et de croyant cherchant à mieux comprendre sa foi et à la partager fait de lui un véritable « interrogateur de réponses ». De sa formation initiale, ce pèlerin de la pensée a gardé le goût de la rigueur et de l'étude des grands textes. Le chercheur qu'il n'a jamais cessé d'être a cultivé la curiosité pour tous les domaines intellectuels, et tout particulièrement pour la théologie dont il a revisité les thèmes majeurs. À ces talents se joint naturellement celui de pédagogue, que le lecteur appréciera surtout s'il découvre avec ce livre la réflexion théologique. Ce pasteur, enfin, n'a cessé d'éveiller ses coreligionnaires à une vraie intelligence de la foi et au goût du questionnement partagé avec celles et ceux qui croient moins, différemment, ou pas du tout. Quel meilleur guide pour apprendre à oser penser par soi-même que celui qui écrivait : « N'ayez pas peur de vous pencher à la margelle de votre propre puits. Ne retenez pas seulement comme vrai ce qui vous a été enseigné ou ce que vous aurez appris par la suite (mais qui vient encore des autres), comme si vous n'étiez que des commentateurs, dépourvus de tout droit à l'inspiration et à l'invention. Il y a en vous, comme en tout homme, une source particulière, unique et singulière » ? Que dire de plus ? Prenez et... lisez !

Values and Knowledge Edward S. Reed, Elliot Turiel, Terrance Brown. 2013-06-17 It is widely recognized that a person's values will profoundly affect what that person attends to, thinks about, and remembers. Yet, despite this, psychologists have only begun to study and think about the deep connections between values and knowledge. This volume explores this important area in psychology by offering an overview of what is known about the developmental role of valuation in the acquisition of knowledge, and also by examining a range of new ideas for understanding the intricate connection between evaluation and thinking. More specifically, the text: provides a historical overview of philosophical and psychological theories relating the values and knowledge; reviews the importance of values for infants and their caretakers in the origins of both cognition and social relations; offers a provocative view of how the differences among families in their values may have profound effects on psychological development; explicates the development of a personal sphere within which one strives to shape one's own values; emphasizes the heterogeneity of valuation inherent in every culture and how conflicts of values are likely to be common and important to human development; presents eye-opening research on social-cognitive limitations of average people in respecting the points of view of others; and summarizes and critiques Piaget's theory of the role of values in development. For practitioners in the fields of developmental and social psychology, and education, this volume will introduce a number of important and current issues, from multiculturalism and gender to the differential roles of temperament and upbringing in development. The emphasis is placed squarely on developing individuals and how they shape themselves in a world that is structured by values as well as by facts.

Introduction à la sociologie de l'action publique Thibault Bossy, Aurélien Evrard, Guillaume Gourgues, Catherine Hoeffler, Thomas Ribémont. 2018-09-28 Une présentation des principales approches théoriques de l'action publique, à partir d'exemples tirés de l'actualité internationale, nationale et locale. La sociologie de l'action publique constitue un pôle majeur dans le champ de la science politique. Ce manuel d'introduction propose un état des lieux de la discipline, en présentant et discutant ses principales notions et approches théoriques. Illustré par des exemples variés, issus de travaux classiques mais aussi de l'actualité la plus récente, cet ouvrage montre que la sociologie de l'action publique ne se limite pas à l'analyse de l'État. L'ouvrage propose d'abord un repérage des acteurs, publics ou privés, qui participent à la formulation des politiques publiques (acteurs administratifs, groupes d'intérêt, responsables politiques, mais aussi le « public » de ces politiques). Il examine ensuite les séquences essentielles d'une politique publique (dynamiques d'émergence des problèmes, fabrique de la décision, logiques de mise en oeuvre et d'évaluation), avant d'aborder l'épineuse question du changement dans l'action publique. Enfin, il s'intéresse à la multiplication des échelles de l'action publique et plus particulièrement aux politiques internationales, européennes et locales. Cet ouvrage intéressera les étudiants, chercheurs et enseignants des 1e, 2e et 3e cycles en science politique, sociologie et en droit, ainsi que les praticiens de l'action publique.

Démocratie... ou mercatocratie ? Pierre-Jean Dessertine.2023-10-24 Vivons-nous vraiment en démocratie ? L'impuissance des peuples face aux crises sociales, sanitaires et écologiques n'est-elle pas la conséquence d'un régime politique plus insidieux ? Ou, comment l'humanité, matériellement toute puissante, se retrouve piégée par son incapacité à se gouverner pour stopper la détérioration accélérée de sa situation ? L'auteur identifie la forme inédite de pouvoir qui s'impose à nous depuis deux siècles comme une mercatocratie. Car c'est bien le mot approprié pour désigner le pouvoir du marché. La mercatocratie est encore un pouvoir social inégalitaire, abusif, comme tant d'autres auparavant, mais elle s'en distingue par son dynamisme propre. Elle peut à la fois s'étendre sur toute la planète et s'immiscer au plus intime des consciences. Elle s'affaire à dégrader les comportements humains, en bridant le rapport de l'individu à son désir, en rétrécissant sa vision du monde, en mutilant son temps vécu au point d'en faire une souffrance d'exister. Cet essai cherche à comprendre les ressorts de la mercatocratie. Il montre comment une altération de notre rapport au temps peut éclairer notre impuissance actuelle. Il initie une démarche plus large qu'il convient de nommer « panser l'avenir » puisqu'elle vise à recouvrer pleinement notre puissance d'agir pour notre futur commun.

Understanding the Consecrated Life in Canada Jason Zuidema.2015-12-21 The story of the consecrated life in Canada since the 1960s should be about much more than numerical decline. Although the falling numbers are significant among Catholic religious in communities that pre-date Vatican II, many communities continue to show stability and even growth. This book provides nuance to that story by adding detailed portraits of movements, communities and institutions. In four parts, this book presents essays from the leading scholars on religious life in Canada that seek to address the state of religious communities dedicated to religious virtuosity normally characterized by formal promises of chastity, poverty, and obedience. The essays examine a broad range of topics related to the general state of consecrated (or "religious" or "monastic") life in contemporary Canadian Christian and Buddhist traditions. In the first section, the contributors trace the demographics and definitions of religious life in Canada. The second section examines Canadian developments in Catholic religious life during the Vatican II and the post-Vatican II eras. A third section explores trends in contemporary Canadian religious life, while the fourth section describes the consecrated life in other Canadian religious traditions.

Paul Ricoeur, culture scienceshumaines Jonathan Roberge.2014-05-01T00:00:00-04:00 Paul Ricoeur (1913-2005) a renouvelé de multiples manières le dialogue entre la philosophie et les sciences humaines sur une période de plus d'un demi-siècle. Au coeur de son entreprise intellectuelle se trouve le concept de compréhension avec sa double valence ontologiques, ce que la compréhension dit de la condition humaine, et épistémologique, à savoir ce qu'elle dit des conditions de la connaissance. Ricoeur développe un modèle mixte - une herméneutique critique - en venant aussi retravailler une seule et même grande idée au cours de son oeuvre : celle du Cogito médiatisé par tout l'univers des signes. Quelle est la place de l'intersubjectivité dans la constitution de ce Cogito? Comment celui-ci se tient-il, s'édifie-t-il et se transmet-il dans son rapport à la culture? Une réflexion sur l'histoire et la pratique historique en est-elle alors inséparable? C'est à ces questions qui touchent toutes au destin à la fois présent et future des sciences humaines que tente de répondre cet ouvrage.

Semiotic Theory of Learning Andrew Stables,Winfried Nöth,Alin Olteanu,Sébastien Pesce,Eetu Pikkarainen.2018-05-15 Semiotic Theory of Learning asks what learning is and what brings it about, challenging the hegemony of psychological and sociological constructions of learning in order to develop a burgeoning literature in semiotics as an educational foundation. Drawing on theoretical research and its application in empirical studies, the book attempts to avoid the problematization of the distinction between theory and practice in semiotics. It covers topics such as signs, significance and semiosis; the ontology of learning; the limits of learning; ecosemiotics; ecology and sexuality. The book is written by five of the key figures in the semiotics field, each committed to the belief that living is a process of interaction through acts of signification with a signifying environment. While the authors are agreed on the value of semiotic frameworks, the book aims not to present an entirely coherent line in every respect, but rather to reflect ongoing scholarship and debates in the area. In light of this, the book offers a range of possible interpretations of major semiotic theorists, unsettling assumptions while offering a fresh, and still developing, series of perspectives on learning from academics grounded in semiotics. Semiotic Theory of Learning is a timely and valuable text that will be of great interest to academics, researchers and postgraduates working in the fields of educational studies, semiotics, psychology, philosophy, applied linguistics and media studies.

Le tic-tac de l'horloge climatique Christian de Perthuis.2019-10-01 Pour contenir le réchauffement en dessous de 2° C, il faut changer les règles du jeu économique. Les instruments à utiliser concernent le climat, mais aussi la justice sociale et les autres facettes de la crise environnementale. Le recours aux énergies fossiles a été à la source de la croissance du XXe siècle et de ses impacts sur la planète. La sortie du règne des fossiles sera la grande affaire du xxie siècle. Cette transition énergétique a démarré, mais elle ne met pas nos sociétés à l'abri du risque climatique. En effet, son rythme n'est pas en phase avec le tic-tac de l'horloge climatique et elle ne permet pas de faire face à l'appauvrissement du milieu naturel qui réduit sa capacité d'absorption du CO2. Pour viser la neutralité carbone, il convient d'opérer une double mutation : accélérer la transition énergétique en désinvestissant des actifs liés aux énergies fossiles et protéger les puits de carbone terrestres et océaniques en investissant dans la diversité du vivant. Il faut simultanément se préparer au durcissement des impacts du réchauffement, inévitables compte-tenu du trop-plein de gaz à effet de serre déjà accumulé dans l'atmosphère. Au-delà des constats solidement documentés, la thèse de l'auteur est que le changement climatique va contraindre nos sociétés à remettre en cause leurs modèles de croissance. Pour opérer ces mutations, il convient d'introduire une tarification carbone à grande échelle et des normes contraignantes. Pour mobiliser l'action du plus grand nombre, ces nouvelles régulations devront répondre à des critères rigoureux de justice climatique.

Rethinking the Mediterranean W. V. Harris. 2006-10-27 In this collection of essays, an international group of renowned scholars attempt to establish the theoretical basis for studying the ancient and medieval history of the Mediterranean Sea and the lands around it. In so doing they range far afield to other Mediterraneans, real and imaginary, as distant as Brazil and Japan. Their work is an essential tool for understanding the Mediterranean, pre-modern and modern alike. It speaks to ancient and medieval historians, to archaeologists, anthropologists and all historians with environmental interests, and not least to classicists.

Introduction à l'économie moderne Georges Sorel. 1949 En quoi nous trompons-nous dans notre rapport à l'argent, à l'autre, à la consommation ? Georges Sorel, philosophe et sociologue, a longuement étudié les mécanismes économiques, notamment du point de vue de Marx et Proudhon. Après une longue carrière d'ingénieur, il livre une analyse visionnaire plus que jamais d'actualité. À travers une étude fine des grands théoriciens de sciences économiques, Sorel brosse le portrait de notre société. Ses espoirs, ses injustices, sa logique. Il s'interroge sur l'industrie, le droit à la propriété privée, l'héritage familial, sociétal, et bien d'autres sujets. Un ouvrage allant bien au-delà du simple rapport à l'économie. Sorel nous incite à considérer la place de l'individu dans la société, sa raison d'être et d'exister. La table des matières permet de se rendre immédiatement au chapitre désiré, puis revenir au sommaire à tout instant. Sans doute à ce jour l'édition la plus fluide et pratique de ce livre d'exception. Un véritable cadeau du siècle dernier pour mieux comprendre la crise actuelle et son avenir.

Psychologie sociale Susan Fiske. 2008-12 Susan Fiske propose dans ce manuel une introduction à la psychologie sociale, tout aussi attractive que rigoureuse, suivant une approche fondée sur les 5 motivations de base (appartenir à un groupe, donner un sens aux réactions de chacun, contrôler les comportements et les événements, se mettre en valeur, faire confiance). Présentant à chaque fois les liens que celles-ci entretiennent avec la vie quotidienne, l'auteure montre comment ces motivations n'entreront pas en jeu de la même manière selon la question ou le problème abordé mais qu'elles interviennent néanmoins toujours dans des propositions variables liées à la situation. Evitant le double écueil de la simplification outrancière et de l'ethnocentrisme, cet ouvrage constitue bien un ouvrage de premier choix, qui accompagnera l'étudiant tout au long de son cursus: progressif et écrit dans une langue accessible et agréable, il propose à chaque étape du raisonnement un résumé qui structure ce qui a été exposé et permet ainsi plusieurs lectures en fonction du niveau d'avancement de l'étudiant. Il présente en outre les résultats de recherches fondamentales (méta-analyses issues de revues critiques et statistiques du monde entier) et établit ainsi des bases solides et reconnues pour l'apprentissage de l'étudiant. Cet ouvrage est destiné aux étudiants de psychologie (License/Baccalauréat 2-3 & Master) mais il intéressera également les étudiants de sociologie, communication et sciences politiques.
