Il paesaggio: teoria pratica e progetto Aa.Vv..2011-11-10T00:00:00+01:00 L'accordo quadro firmato nel 1998 tra il Presidente della Conferenza dei Rettori delle Università Italiane(CRUI) e il Presidente della Conférence des Présidents des Universités Françaises(CPU) ha istituito una procedura di cotutela di tesi dottorali tra Francia e Italia. Nell'ambito di tale accordo si sono mosse le esperienze che Simona Calvagna e Vito Martelliano, ormai dottori in Progetto e recupero architettonico, urbano e ambientale, hanno svolto nel corso degli studi portati a termine nel mese di aprile del 2004: i percorsi di ricerca, fondati sulla interdisciplinarietà, hanno prodotto una sinergia fra istituzioni culturali, appartenenti ai due paesi, che trova in questa sede una ulteriore affermazione. I relatori, che afferiscono alle strutture referenti impegnate nell'accordo, dimostrano come la cooperazione europea per la ricerca universitaria non è più un'utopia bensì una realtà, irrinunciabile anche se difficoltosa: è un piacere per me avere la possibilità e l'onore di aprire i lavori di un seminario che guarda alle esperienze di ricerca maturate in tale ambito. L'Università può così allargare il suo raggio d'azione e lo scambio di conoscenze e di esperienze, come quelle oggi in gioco, può essere il presupposto di una più ampia condivisione di intenti in cui la circolazione di idee e di uomini concorrono a fare dell'area europea un ambito di ricerca comune. Saperi umanistici e scientifici, base di identità di ciascun popolo, potranno confluire a determinare una comune consapevolezza. Il volume è a cura di Anna Maria Atripaldi, con contributi di Simona Calvagna, Vito Martelliano e interviste a Gilles Clément e Fausto C. Nigrelli.

Color in the Age of Impressionism Laura Anne Kalba. 2017-07-18 This study analyzes the impact of color-making technologies on the visual culture of nineteenth-century France, from the early commercialization of synthetic dyes to the Lumière brothers' perfection of the autochrome color photography process. Focusing on Impressionist art, Laura Anne Kalba examines the importance of dyes produced in the second half of the nineteenth century to the vision of artists such as Edgar Degas, Pierre-Auguste Renoir, and Claude Monet. The proliferation of vibrant new colors in France during this time challenged popular understandings of realism, abstraction, and fantasy in the realms of fine art and popular culture. More than simply adding a touch of spectacle to everyday life, Kalba shows, these bright, varied colors came to define the development of a consumer culture increasingly based on the sensual appeal of color. Impressionism—emerging at a time when inexpensively produced color functioned as one of the principal means by and through which people understood modes of visual perception and signification—mirrored and mediated this change, shaping the ways in which people made sense of both modern life and modern art. Demonstrating the central importance of color history and technologies to the study of visibility, Color in the Age of Impressionism adds a dynamic new layer to our understanding of visual and material culture.

Le Second Empire Jean-Claude Yon. 2004-11-09 Cet ouvrage, qui ne cherche ni à réhabiliter ni à condamner le Second Empire, brosse le portrait d'une époque, plus encore que d'un régime, en s'efforçant de respecter sa richesse et sa diversité. Envisageant ces vingt années sous trois angles différents, il analyse l'histoire politique du régime, étudie la société française sous Napoléon III, et dresse un panorama de l'histoire culturelle de la période. La variété des thèmes abordés et la multiplicité des approches permettent ainsi de dépeindre la France de Morny et d'Hausmann, de Schneider et de Boucicaut, de Claude Bernard et de Labiche.

Der Orient in der Schweiz Francine Giese, Leïla el-Wakil, Ariane Varela Braga. 2019-04-01 Der vorliegende Band untersucht die faszinierende und immer noch wenig bekannte orientalisierende Architektur der Schweiz. Die in fünf thematischen Sektionen gegliederten Beiträge stellen bislang unveröffentlichtes Material vor und diskutieren die Rezeption islamischer Kunst und Architektur in den unterschiedlichen Landesregionen anhand ausgewählter Fallstudien aus dem 19. und frühen 20. Jahrhundert. Im Vordergrund stehen dabei Fragen nach der Entstehung und Funktion orientalisierender Interieurs, der Beziehung von Architektur und religiöser Identität, der lokalen und globalen Rezeption des neo-maurischen Stils, sowie der Bedeutung des Orients für nationale Ausstellungen und die dekorativen Künste. Die insgesamt fünfzehn Beiträge des zweisprachigen Sammelbandes (deutsch/französisch) zeigen nicht nur die Relevanz des künstlerischen Phänomens für die Schweiz, sondern auch für den größeren europäischen Kontext auf und sollen zur Revalorisierung dieses wichtigen Denkmalbestandes beitragen. Ce volume examine le phénomène fascinant et encore méconnu de l'architecture orientalisante de Suisse. Organisées en cinq sections thématiques, les contributions documentent de façon largement inédite la réception de l'art et de l'architecture islamiques dans plusieurs régions du pays, à travers une sélection d'études de cas allant du 19e siècle au début du 20e siècle. L'accent est mis sur les questions touchant aux intérieurs orientalisants, à l'architecture et à l'identité religieuse, à la réception locale et globale du style néo-mauresque, ainsi qu'à la place tenue par l'Orient dans les expositions et les arts décoratifs. Les quinze contributions de cette anthologie bilingue (allemand/français) démontrent non seulement l'importance de ce phénomène artistique en Suisse, mais élargissent également la réflexion au contexte européen, pour contribuer à revaloriser ce remarquable patrimoine architectural.

Aspects of Brazilian Floristic Diversity Maria Franco Trindade Medeiros, Bárbara de Sá Haiad. 2022-10-30 Aspects of Brazilian Floristic Diversity: From Botany to Traditional Communities offers a unique approach in floristic diversity of the Neotropical region, specifically encompassing the Brazilian flora. This volume combines both theoretical and applied aspects of scientific making knowledge in different perspectives of Botanical Science. The book addresses relevant questions from many points of view, including anatomy, reproduction, palinology, conservation and ethnobotany, creating an in-depth perception of the flora in its complexity constitution. The book provides a comprehensive outlook on Botany Sciences, considering the history and traditional knowledge of plants, and relating it to contemporary problems and concerns of flora conservation today. With this current perspective, this book reaches a vast audience from the research lines of Botany, and encompasses a broader and interdisciplinary understanding of Aspects of Brazilian Floristic Diversity.

Transforming Landscapes Françoise Fromonot. 2020-02-24 Michel Desvigne is the most renowned French landscape architect in the world. Based in Paris, he has held guest professorships at such distinguished institutions as the Architectural Association in London and Harvard University. Desvigne's projects have a strong strategic and conceptual component. Urban infrastructure projects play a major role, and emphasize the urban planning and design expertise evident in his landscape architecture. The book documents ten of Devigne's major projects from France, the US, Spain and Qatar, in which he is responsible not only for the landscape architecture, but for coordination of the entire project. How can such highly complex projects be realized? What does the intellectual thought process look like? What specific problems arise in their realization?

Les Misérables and Its Afterlives Kathryn M. Grossman, Bradley Stephens. 2016-03-09 Exploring the enduring popularity of Victor Hugo's Les Misérables, this collection offers analysis of both the novel itself and its adaptations. In spite of a mixed response from critics, Les Misérables instantly became a global bestseller. Since its successful publication over 150 years ago, it has traveled across different countries, cultures, and media, giving rise to more than 60 international film and television variations, numerous radio dramatizations, animated versions, comics, and stage plays. Most famously, it has inspired the world's longest running musical, which itself has generated a wealth of fan-made and online content. Whatever its form, Hugo's tale of social injustice and personal redemption continues to permeate the popular imagination. This volume draws together essays from across a variety of fields, combining readings of Les Misérables with reflections on some of its multimedia afterlives, including musical theater and film from the silent period to today's digital platforms. The contributors offer new insights into the development and reception of Hugo's celebrated classic, deepening our understanding of the novel as a work that unites social commentary with artistic vision and raising important questions about the cultural practice of adaptation.

The Animal in Ottoman Egypt Alan Mikhail.2014 Animals in rural Egypt became enmeshed in social relationships and made possible many tasks otherwise impossible. Rather than focus on what animals represented or symbolized, Mikhail discusses their social and economic functions, as Ottoman Egypt cannot be understood without acknowledging animals as central shapers of the early modern world.

Le paysage romantique et l'expérience du sublime Yvon Le Scuff.2007 Dans la première moitié du XIXe siècle, le paysage sublime est le lieu commun du paysage romantique. Dans sa redéfinition du sublime comme expérience, le romantisme va davantage développer une esthétique du paysage qu'une topique de la puissance naturelle (le volcan, la cataracte, l'orage ou la tempête) ou de la représentation de l'infini (Dieu, la mer, la montagne). Cette poétique du paysage peut s'interpréter dans le sens d'une révélation du Chaos : magnifique confusion et profusion de l'existant, mais aussi radicale négativité de l'être. C'est ainsi que le paysage sublime ouvre sur une philosophie de la nature qui en révèle la fondamentale indétermination ontologique. La composition du paysage trouve ainsi son écho dans la construction du personnage. et notamment dans la figure du héros romantique, taraudé par une indétermination native, hanté par une liberté inconditionnelle et radicale. Pour le romantisme, le paysage naturel n'est donc pas étranger à l'investissement éthique ou à la contemplation métaphysique, c'est même au sein de cette grande nature correspondant à sa démesure que l'homme romantique va définir son projet : élan génial et enthousiaste, révolte ou renoncement ?

Planning the Greenspaces of Nineteenth-Century Paris Richard S. Hopkins.2015-05-11 In the second half of the nineteenth century, state and municipal governments oversaw the explosive growth of public parks, squares, and gardens throughout the city of Paris. In Planning the Greenspaces of Nineteenth-Century Paris, Richard S. Hopkins skillfully weaves together social and cultural history to argue that the expansion of these greenspaces served as more than simple urban embellishment. Rather, they provided an essential component of the Second Empire's efforts to transform and revitalize France's capital city, and their development continued well into the Third Republic. Hopkins brings a new dimension to the study of nineteenth-century Parisian urbanism by considering the parks and squares of Paris from multiple perspectives: the reformers who advocated for them, the planners who constructed them, the workers who maintained them, and the neighborhood residents who used them. As public areas over which private citizens felt a high degree of ownership, these spaces offered a unique opportunity for collaboration between city officials and residents. Hopkins examines the national and municipal goals for the greenspaces, their intended contributions to public health, and the roles of park service employees and neighborhood groups in their ongoing centrality to Parisian life. Hopkins's study moves deftly from the aspirations of the political authorities to the ways in which new public spaces contributed to community-building and neighborhood identity. Drawing on extensive archival research, he depicts a greenspace design and development process that illustrates the dynamic relationship between citizens and city.

Le paysage entre art et politique Guy Mercier, Suzanne Paquet. 2013-06-20T00:00:00-04:00 Depuis ces temps lointains où le jardin royal symbolisait le royaume, jusqu'à l'actualité de l'image numérique qui, à force de se multiplier, substitue au monde son propre spectacle, les représentations paysagères, aussi artistiques soient-elles, ont toujours conservé un pouvoir mobilisateur qui leur confère une réelle valeur politique. C'est pourquoi le paysage a très tôt fait l'objet de conventions, que relaient désormais les normes édictées par le législateur, la bureaucratie et le marché. Cette puissance politique des représentations paysagères, qui n'est pas sans lien avec leur valeur artistique, n'est en rien diminuée depuis que le paysage, déjà accaparé par le savoir technique, a été au rang d'objet scientifique. On peut même croire que s'est ainsi nouée une nouvelle alliance de l'art et de la politique. Les textes de huit auteurs québécois et français réunis dans ce volume traitent diversement du paysage, des formes qu'il prend et qu'il a prises, des règles de sa composition et des raisons qui justifieraient sa conservation, sa mise en valeur, son enchantement. Il y est aussi question de ses usages et des fonctions, qu'on lui a attribuées, non seulement à l'époque contemporaine, mais aussi dans le passé, proche ou plus lointain. Se pose de plus le problème du lien entre la réalité concrète du paysage, inscrite dans l'espace géographique, et ses représentations, ancrées dans l'esprit humain.

L'art des jardins sous le Second Empire Luisa Limido.2002 Jean-Pierre Barillet-Deschamps (1824-1873), premier Jardinier en chef du Service des Promenades et Plantations de la Ville de Paris, est l'auteur de l'aménagement paysager de la capitale au moment de sa transformation par le préfet Haussmann. Transformant notamment les bois de Boulogne et de Vincennes, le parc Monceau, réalisant le parc des Buttes-Chaumont, il inaugure un nouveau type de jardin, caractérisé par les vallonnements, les formes sinueuses des allées et des pelouses, la richesse de la décoration végétale, qui exalte la modernité du Second Empire et de la bourgeoisie, nouvelle classe dominante. Les jardins parisiens se font le reflet de la société, de ses désirs, principes et valeurs ; ils révèlent en même temps ses faiblesses et ses contradictions. Image fidèle de la bourgeoisie parisienne, le nouveau jardin est diversement accueilli dans les pays où il est exporté : en province, à Lille, Marseille, Avignon, Hyères, ainsi qu'à l'étranger : Genève, Milan, Turin, Vienne et Le Caire. Le jardin parisien du Second Empire caractérisera l'art des jardins du XIXe siècle et marquera de son empreinte la plupart des réalisations paysagères du XXe siècle.

Dividing Paris Esther da Costa Meyer.2022-02-15 Dividing Paris: Urban Renewal and Social Inequality, 1852-1870 offers a new look at the ambitious urban changes that transformed the city of Paris during the Second Empire, when Paris became a template for urban renewal in many large cities in Europe, North, and South America. Esther da Costa Meyer looks at the social and historical context of these urban changes--what Napoleon III, his prefect Georges-Eugene Haussman, and their team of engineers planned, as well as how the diverse and deeply stratified public responded to them. Along with broad streets and boulevards intended to enable crowds and merchandise to circulate and, also, impede the chances of popular insurgency, Haussman's project of urban renewal called for ample water supply, sewerage, and public parks and gardens. These changes radically altered the old, tightly-knit weave of the medieval city, serving the needs of the industrial bourgeoisie while forcing the urban poor to the outskirts. Dividing Paris is the first architectural history of the city that takes into account the larger part of the urban territory annexed in 1860, a ring of settlements and villages which became increasingly class-specific. Instead of relating the story of Haussmanization as a top-down administrative effort, as Haussman's critics and admirers have both tended to do, it draws on primary sources, especially newspapers and memoirs, to investigate the degree to which Parisians' experiences of modernity were class and gender-specific and to ask what strategies working class men and women in particular used to cope with and in some cases resist the changing world around them. At the same time, da Costa Meyer resists the familiar narrative of Paris as capital of the 19th century that has endured, at least since Walter Benjamin's famous essay, as euro-centric and misleading insofar as it fails to situate Paris's urban developments in a broader global context or to acknowledge the extent to which Haussmanization was itself implicated in the broader imperial project on which France was embarked at the time--

Public Parks, Private Gardens Colta Ives. 2018-03-05 The spectacular transformation of Paris during the 19th century into a city of tree-lined boulevards and public parks both redesigned the capital and inspired the era's great Impressionist artists. The renewed landscape gave crowded, displaced urban dwellers green spaces to enjoy, while suburbanites and country-dwellers began cultivating their own flower gardens. As public engagement with gardening grew, artists increasingly featured flowers and parks in their work. Public Parks, Private Gardens includes masterworks by artists such as Bonnard, Cassatt, Cézanne, Corot, Daumier, Van Gogh, Manet, Matisse, Monet, and Seurat. Many of these artists were themselves avid gardeners, and they painted parks and gardens as the distinctive scenery of contemporary life. Writing from the perspective of both a distinguished art historian and a trained landscape designer, Colta Ives provides new insights not only into these essential works, but also into this extraordinarily creative period in France's history.

Belle époque dos jardins Guilherme Mazza Dourado.2023-02-28 As relações entre as culturas francesa e sul-americana durante o século XIX e as primeiras décadas do século XX foram estreitas não só nos domínios da literatura, das artes visuais e da arquitetura, mas também no âmbito do paisagismo. Empreendendo um estudo de mão dupla sobre essas trocas de experiências e informações, Belle époque dos jardins principia com um mapeamento da atividade de paisagistas e horticultores franceses na Argentina, no Uruguai, Chile e Brasil, e recupera a produção local de Édouard André, Eugène Courtois, Charles Thays, Joseph Bouvard, Pedro Margat, Charles e Louis-Ernest Racine, Édouard Gauthier, Georges Dubois, Grandjean de Montigny, Pierre Pézérat, Charles Pinel, Jean Binot, Auguste Glaziou, Júlio Joly, Ambrósio Perret, Paul Villon, Jules Vacherot e Cochet, entre outros. O livro analisa também as repercussões da presença e cultura francesas sobre as primeiras gerações de paisagistas e horticultores brasileiros, focalizando o trabalho do gaúcho Frederico Guilherme de Albuquerque, um dos pioneiros na introdução e na difusão de espécimes ornamentais no país e editor da Revista de Horticultura, primeiro mensário nacional dedicado às plantas de jardim, que circulou entre 1876 e 1879. Por sua abordagem de fundo histórico e sólidas informações de cunho botânico, esta publicação do Senac São Paulo interessa a paisagistas, urbanistas, estudiosos do espaço urbano e a todo cidadão atento às políticas que regem o espaço público.

Facing the Other Charles Cordier,Laure de Margerie,Edouard Papet.2004-10 Under the Second Empire in France, Cordier received several assignments in North Africa and there he completed scientific busts that were just as much works of art. His busts in silver or gilt bronze, onyx and coloured marble are delicate gems, reflecting Cordier's interest in other civilizations, most notably African. The Musee d'Orsay in Paris has organized an unprecedented international exhibition of Cordier's work, highlighting seventy-five sculptures and approximately forty ethnographic photographs. Filled with several texts on his life and work compiled by the exhibition's organizers, this book was created and based on the research by Jeanine Durand-Revillon for the Ecole du Louvre in 1980.

Mettray Stephen A. Toth.2019-11-15 The Mettray Penal Colony was a private reformatory without walls, established in France in 1840 for the rehabilitation of young male delinquents. Foucault linked its opening to the most significant change in the modern status of prisons and now, at last, Stephen Toth takes us behind the gates to show how the institution legitimized France's repression of criminal youth and added a unique layer to the nation's carceral system. Drawing on insights from sociology, criminology, critical theory, and social history, Stephen Toth dissects Mettray's social anatomy, exploring inmates' experiences. More than 17,000 young men passed through the reformatory before its closure, and Toth situates their struggles within changing conceptions of childhood and adolescence in modern France. Mettray demonstrates that the colony was an ill-conceived project marked by internal contradictions. Its social order was one of subjection and subversion, as officials struggled for order and inmates struggled for autonomy. Toth's formidable archival work exposes the nature of the relationships between, and among, prisoners and administrators. He explores the daily grind of existence: living conditions, discipline, labor, sex, and violence. Thus, he gives voice to the incarcerated, not simply to the incarcerators, whose ideas and agendas tend to dominate the historical record. Mettray is, above all else, a deeply personal illumination of life inside France's most venerated carceral institution.
